02 / PRICING & OUTLOOK

Pricing & Outlook

What you pay against what the bottles sell for, and where the value can go.

This cask comes to the platform at £112 per litre of alcohol, a total of approximately £13,888. That works out to 385 bottles at a spirit cost of £36.07 per 70cl bottle before tax. The bar below sets that figure against comparable Bunnahabhain bottlings selling at retail today, which reach £400 per bottle.

£36.07 SPIRIT COST · vs £400 RETAIL BOTTLE

The bottles behind that comparison, live at retail today:

BOTTLE (INDEPENDENT)	RETAILER	LIVE RETAIL
Bunnahabhain entry comparable	Master of Malt	£120.00
Bunnahabhain mid comparable	Master of Malt	£175.00
Bunnahabhain premium comparable	The Whisky Exchange	£400.00

Comparables run from £120 to £400 per bottle. That spread is the room a cask has to grow into over a longer hold.

04 / PLATFORM PRECEDENT

Platform Precedent

Clients have already bought and exited this exact product on the platform.

This is not a new, untested line. 1 client / 1 cask of this exact product have already completed a full buy-and-exit cycle on Decant Index. Across those exits the average realised return was 6.5% over an average hold of 15 months.

Reading the data

These figures are realised, not modelled: they reflect the difference between what clients paid and what they received on exit for this same product. They are historic and specific to those casks, and do not guarantee the same outcome for stock bought today.

Annual return is the average total return annualised over the average hold.

Recent-vintage casks tend to show shorter holds and lower totals simply because they have had less time to mature, so read the figures together.

Past performance does not guarantee future returns. Short holding periods can be impacted by storage and insurance costs and price volatility. Each cask has a recommended minimum holding period.

05 / THE DISTILLERY

The Distillery

Islay's gentle giant, the island malt without the smoke.

Bunnahabhain was founded in 1881 on the remote north-east coast of Islay, near Port Askaig, by the blending house behind what became Highland Distillers. So isolated was the site that the founders had to build a road, a pier and a village for the workers. The name means mouth of the river, after the Margadale spring that feeds it.

From the start Bunnahabhain took a different path from its Islay neighbours. Where the island is famous for heavy peat, Bunnahabhain built its name on a predominantly unpeated, sherry-influenced style that is rich, nutty and rounded, with a gentle maritime character. It has long been a key malt in blends such as Black Bottle and Famous Grouse, and its approachable profile has earned it a devoted following among those who want Islay provenance without the bonfire.

The cask offered here is a ex-bourbon fill, approximately 13 years matured, held in HMRC-bonded storage at Alloa in Scotland. It comes to the platform at £112 per litre of alcohol, roughly £13,888 per cask, a spirit cost of £36.07 per 70cl bottle before tax.

1 Islay provenance, broad appeal

Bunnahabhain carries the cachet of an Islay address while offering a smoother, more approachable style. That combination widens the pool of buyers compared with the heavily peated island malts.

2 Sherry-led richness

The core style leans on sherry-cask maturation for dried-fruit and nutty depth, a profile that consistently sells well and ages attractively.

3 A loyal following

Bunnahabhain has carved out a distinct niche as the island's gentle malt, building a loyal global following that supports steady secondary demand.
